The NAHC strives to be your source for what is happening in Naperville of importance to homeowners. Through our meetings, this newsletter, and our website, we attempt to provide actionable information and insights for your associations and residents. We are always looking for news to share with our members. If something is going on in your neighborhood the Confederation needs to hear about, please let us know. Likewise, the Confederation Calendar at www.napervillehomeowners.com is a great way to get the word out on things happening around town. Our calendar takes thousands of hits every month – so let us help you publicize your events!

We welcome and appreciate your feedback. Send it to our External Communications Director, Bob Fischer, at rafischer1@aol.com.

President's Letter

In day-to-day conversation there seems to be a sense of frustration in the air. People feel they are being pushed by events over which they have no control – events which impact our daily lives, our finances, and our families.

While this collective sense of resignation may have some credence in events with a national scope, this is definitely not the case on local issues. Here in Naperville we have valuable and unique opportunities to shape the world in our own backyard. Through the ballot box, in April, we will have the opportunity to choose the people who control the lion's share of our property tax dollars. These elections will cover School and Park District Boards, Townships, and City Government.

To help inform homeowners about who is running, and what they stand for, the NAHC is planning a series of Candidate Forums during March. More details, including dates and times, are provided later in this newsletter and will be posted on our website, www.napervillehomeowners.com. During the forums it is our plan to ensure questions of interest and importance to homeowners are featured.

Besides the power of the ballot box, the Confederation provides opportunities for personal interaction with civic leaders. Our February 21st joint meeting with City Council will focus on the 2009-2010 City Strategic Plan and Legislative agenda focusing on the needs of homeowners with an opportunity for open discussion with our community leaders on these.

Our March 21st meeting will focus on the Naperville Park District. The agenda is still in the planning stages but we anticipate a look at programs, facilities, and budgets.

Our seminar on foreclosures at the end of January was designed to provide information and resources to help maintain our neighborhoods and homes. I would like to thank our panelists, Robin Coffey, Associate Director of The DuPage Homeownership Center; Stuart Fullett, Attorney with Fosco Fullett Rosenlund PC; Ann Michalsen, Code Enforcement Team Supervisor, City of Naperville; Lynda Reilly, President, Lynmar Lending; and Vince Rosanova, Attorney with Dommermuth, Brestal, Cobine & West Ltd, for their time and for sharing their knowledge for this excellent information exchange.

The Naperville Area Homeowners Confederation is pleased to provide these opportunities to get involved and take control of events that impact your homes and lives. If you, or your homeowners association, are not already involved in the NAHC we welcome your attendance and participation at our upcoming meetings. The NAHC is what grass roots citizen involvement is all about!

Zoning and Land Use Update

The following report from Zoning & Land Use Committee chair Thom Higgins includes development projects that were discussed at the January monthly meeting with City Staff and/or were determined by Plan Commission and Council:

New Proposals:

Turning Point Foundation: Has submitted preliminary plans to construct a school and 12 unit housing structure for Autistic children on Naper-Plainfield Rd. at 104th St. Information on Turning Point Foundation can be found at: <http://www.turningpointautismfoundation.org>

The Pizza Hut at Ogden Mall will become a CVS pharmacy soon.

Ongoing Proposals:

The Woods Along Old Plank Rd: There was considerable negative public testimony and discussion on this proposal by City Council members at the January 13, City Council meeting. Ultimately, it was rejected in a 5-4 vote, essentially sending the developer back to square one. There was an alternative motion made to send the request back to the developer for 30 days to attempt to make the plan more acceptable, but it failed. Councilmen Furstenau, Krause, Fieseler, Rosanova & Wehrli voted to deny the proposal, while Mayor Pradel and Councilmen Boyajian, Dunn, and Miller voted to NOT deny the proposal, but to be fair, some of those who voted not to deny did so as they wanted to give the developer the opportunity to attempt to salvage the proposal and come back in 30 days.

PC1763 Good Shepherd Church 1310 Shepherd Dr. gained approval for a major change to the conditional use for the purpose of constructing a 6,724 square ft. addition to the north, and a 12,397 square ft. addition to the west, along with a variance to reduce the number of parking stalls from 445 to 413. Plan Commission approved the plan 9-0.

Omnia Performing Arts: Although Omnia has not formally begun the required plan submittal and review process, it continues to attempt to garner support with the public and communicate with the City. In December Omnia submitted a packet of information, (largely containing the information provided on its website) to the city. Ms. Marcie Schatz, Director of Naperville's TED group, responded with a letter outlining the deficiencies in the packet, and making them aware of the necessary steps Omnia must take in order for the city to evaluate their proposal. Omnia has a website at: <http://www.omniaarts.org/>

Studies and Initiatives:

Fifth Avenue Study: There will be a public open house for the Fifth Avenue Study on Thursday, February 19, 2009, at 7 p.m. in the lunchroom of the Naperville Municipal Center, 400 S. Eagle St. During the public open house, city staff will present the preliminary alternatives for future land use, commuter parking and multi-modal circulation improvements (i.e., vehicle, bicycle, pedestrian and public transit circulation) and streetscape improvements for Washington Street only. City staff will be available to answer questions from the public.

During the open house, information regarding the preliminary alternatives will be available for review at a series of stations organized by topic. Representatives from the City of Naperville will be available at each station to respond to questions and provide clarification. There will be no formal group presentation during the open house.

Following the public open house, interested parties will have the opportunity to provide input on the preliminary alternatives during a joint forum involving the city's Plan Commission and Transportation Advisory Board. The forum is scheduled for Thursday, March 5, 2009, at 7 p.m. in Meeting Rooms A, B and C at the Naperville Municipal Center.

<http://www.naperville.il.us/fifthavenue.aspx>

Ogden Ave Corridor Enhancement Initiative: The city is starting an Ogden Avenue Site Reimbursement Grant Program. This new program was created to provide funding for building façade, signage and site improvements based on requests by property owners for funding. Owners can apply for grant's at the city's Web site here: www.naperville.il.us/ogdengrant.aspx

Road Impact Fee moratorium; In an effort to attract new business to Naperville in difficult economic times, the City Council, working with the NDP (Naperville Development Partnership), has voted to impose a 12 month moratorium of roadway impact fees. The moratorium applies to any new construction where a lease or contract for a tenant has not yet been signed. The City Council has instructed city staff and the NDP to look at extending these benefits to developments underway, such as some of the car dealerships that are now under construction and paid the fee recently.

In a somewhat related matter, The Main Street Promenade addition was previously granted an approximately $800,000.00 reduction in the proposed fee in lieu charge of $1,200,00.00 for not providing enough parking for its development, due to the owner successfully claiming that the full charge would harm the viability of the project. The city recently increased the fee in lieu formula to better reflect the cost of parking garages.

Attainable Housing Study: The city has released its draft 2009 Naperville Housing Needs and Market Analysis document is intended to provide Naperville's decision makers with factual information about the housing needs and housing market of current residents and of the people who work in Naperville. The study reports on the affordability of housing in the city for current residents and those who work in Naperville. The document also details housing demands and needs from a random sample survey of Naperville residents and employees. It is anticipated the City Council will consider this study in either March or April 2009.

A copy of the draft is available on the city's Web site at www.naperville.il.us/fhac.aspx. For more information on the Fair Housing Advisory Commission, visit www.naperville.il.us/fhac.aspx.

Miscellaneous:

NAHC Board Letter to City Council

On January 10th the NAHC Board sent a letter to Naperville's Mayor and City Council expressing our concern regarding the costs of the Federal lawsuit filed by Councilman Furstenau against the City and select City employees. A copy of this letter can be found on the Confederation website at <http://www.napervillehomeowners.com/NAHC/NewsDoc/NewsDoc10854.pdf>.

Without taking sides on the lawsuit, or expressing a position on the merits of the suit, the Board expressed its concerns about what we saw as an unproductive use of our tax dollars (an amount approaching $900,000 for outside attorney fees as of the end of November) in a time of economic peril and reduced City services. We respectfully requested that the primary parties to the suit, Mr. Furstenau as the plaintiff, the City through its payment of defense costs, and the named defendants, enter into an alternative method of dispute resolution to halt the use of our tax dollars for activities where no new city service nor no improved city service that would benefit residents of the City of Naperville is provided.

Questions from our members should be referred to Confederation Director Dr. Bob Buckman or via email to nahc-naperhomeowners@wowway.com.

City Briefs – News You Can Use from the City of Naperville

The Naperville Fire Department would like to remind all residents of the importance of dialing 9-1-1 if their smoke or carbon monoxide detectors activate in their residence or business.

Residents with non-emergency related questions can contact Fire Department Administration between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday at (630) 305-5900. Among the services provided by the Fire Department Administration are registration for wireless fire alarm monitoring, copies of ambulance and fire incident reports, burn permits, free blood pressure checks and fire station tour scheduling. Fire Department administrative staff can also answer your inquiries in person or by phone regarding public education programs, the Senior Home Inspection Program and the department's juvenile fire intervention program.

Residents can watch City Council meeting videos live and on-demand on their computer with the new eAgenda system recently implemented by the City of Naperville.

This service, available at www.naperville.il.us/granicus.html, allows viewers to watch video and hear audio of City Council meetings as they are happening. Once the meeting is complete, the video will be archived on the Web site for access at future times.

One of the key features of the system allows residents to quickly access the portion of the meeting they are interested in seeing. If residents missed watching the meeting live, with a click of the mouse they can view archived meetings. When you click on your agenda item of interest, the corresponding video will load and begin playing. An item of interest can be viewed without having to view the rest of the meeting.

With the large volume of snow that has fallen within the last month, the Naperville Fire Department is asking residents to consider clearing neighborhood fire hydrants of snow and ice when shoveling their driveways and walkways.

When firefighters are wearing their heavy equipment and dragging hoses to be connected to a hydrant, extended room is necessary for the firefighters to complete their task. In addition, the more time firefighters spend wading through knee-deep snow, the longer it takes to hook the hoses up to the hydrants. As such, the Fire Department asks that residents consider clearing a four-foot diameter around each hydrant and shoveling a path from the road to the hydrant.

In Naperville we have approximately 8,700 hydrants and being able to access the hydrant quickly can reduce fire loss and reduce risk to the individuals and firefighters. When a fire emergency breaks out, a short delay may be the difference between life and death.

The city also has a program called Pluggie's Pal that is designed to get children involved with hands-on fire prevention. The program asks children to "adopt" a hydrant during the winter months and clear a four-foot circle around the hydrant, as well as a three-foot path from the hydrant to the street. The child is also asked to watch for missing or broken port caps and water leaks and to report them to the Naperville Fire Department. The child will receive a certificate with the location of his or her hydrant.

The City of Naperville would like to inform residents that the application period for the Senior Citizen Real Estate Tax Deferral Program in DuPage County is now open. Applications will be accepted through Friday, February 27.

This program allows qualifying seniors ages 65 and older to defer their property taxes until the time they sell their home. To qualify, an applicant's household income cannot exceed $50,000. Additionally, the property must be used exclusively for residential purposes. The deferral is treated as a loan and accrues 6 percent simple interest until paid.

Last year there was a more than three percent increase in program participation. Application forms were automatically mailed to last year's participants on January 12.

For a copy of the application, call (630) 407-5900 or visit the DuPage County treasurer's Web site at www.dupageco.org/treasurer/generic.cfm?doc_id=1251.

FEEDING WILDLIFE IN WINTER

By Brook McDonald
President & CEO
The Conservation Foundation

That beautiful blanket of snow covering the ground in the winter means tough times for many animal populations. Deer can't locate dinner, ice keeps seeds from hungry birds, and squirrels no longer have an easy time of it when it comes to satisfying their hunger. Although it's natural for wildlife to struggle to find food during harsh weather, winter may be the most important time of year for people to augment the menu.

For instance, many of our native birds do not migrate during this time of year. Of course, the best way to help wild animals survive a severe winter is to maintain high-quality habitat plantings year-round. The Illinois Audubon Society recommends including hollies, hawthorn and winterberry in landscaping because these plants have fruit which hangs on during winter months.

Bird feeders should be filled with seeds and berries which are natural foods. Feeders should be kept clean by disinfecting frequently and should be filled with only enough seed to be eaten in one day as a way to deter raccoons, deer, and other animals which otherwise may be attracted. A variety of foods will bring more kinds of birds to feeders.

Don't worry if feeders can't be filled every day. Backyard birds tend to visit a number of feeders in their daily search for food. If one is empty, they'll just go to their next stop. As with human diets, moderation is the key. Remember that one reason to feed birds is to replace the food that was lost when land was developed. Going beyond this may actually be a hindrance rather than a help.

One of the easiest ways to help wild animals in winter is to avoid disturbing them. Animals must conserve their energy to survive harsh conditions, and human disturbance causes them to move about. For instance, keep dogs confined, and slow down when traveling in motor vehicles through deer territory at night.

If you'd like to help backyard animals in a more active way, the Humane Society of the United States recommends suet as a good addition to feed set out for squirrels in winter, since they may benefit from animal fat in cold weather.

One main benefit of wildlife feeding is that it provides a direct, intimate view of wild animals for more than 50 million Americans who provide backyard feeding stations of some kind. In fact, with the leaves off of trees and the bright snowy backdrop, winter can be one of the best seasons to spot the wildlife with whom we share our northeastern Illinois landscape. Whether its on a nature walk in the crisp cold air, or enjoying nature's bounty through our windows, our native animals are entertaining and educational to watch. Don't miss nature's winter show!

The Conservation Foundation, a nonprofit land and watershed protection organization, is dedicated to preserving open space and natural lands, protecting rivers and watersheds, and promoting stewardship of the environment in northeastern Illinois. For more information about activities, programs and membership, visit www.theconservationfoundation.org or call 630-428-4500.

Notice On Upcoming Election

It has come to the attention of the Naperville Park District that the "Pre-filing Notice" concerning the April 7, 2009 election for the office of Park Commissioner for the Naperville Park District (the "Election"), published by the Local Election Official on January 8, 2009 and January 9, 2009 in the Daily Herald and the Naperville Sun, contained an error. Programs available for full or partial waiver include introductory or basic level programs with a maximum value of $100.

Applicants must provide certain documentation regarding income status; the Naperville Park District's Community Relations Department is ready to assist individuals who apply to be considered. All information given by applicants as a part of the process is confidential and not a matter of public record. A waiver of program fees may be issued for six months or one year, and an applicant must reapply at the end of each calendar year in order to continue participation in the program. There are exclusions to the scholarship program, and trips, ticketed events, leagues and participation in Naperville Park District's preschool program are not eligible for scholarship consideration.

Bi-Monthly City Homeowners Report Coming Soon

We had nearly 1,000 "hits" on December's Internet distribution of the City bi-monthly homeowners report! Electronic distribution definitely seems to be working and we hope that all of our members are taking the time to download this very informative and useful document. The NAHC partners with the City to make this report available in "even-numbered" months throughout the year.

Watch our website for activation of the link to the February City packet at <http://www.napervillehomeowners.com/NAHC/NewsDoc/NewsDoc10524.pdf>. The new February packet should be posted by February 9th!

Naperville Lyceum journal available on the Illinois Digital Archives

The Proceedings of the Naperville Lyceum, a journal of weekly meetings held from 1836 to 1843, acquired in 2006 by the Naperville Heritage Society, is now available on-line. The book was conserved to stabilize the fragile document and then the pages were scanned. In cooperation with the Naperville Public Library, the book is now available electronically through the Illinois Digital Archives, www.idaillinois.org.

Members of the lyceum, which met in several locations in Naperville shortly after the town was founded in 1831, gathered to debate important issues of the era and also held philosophical discussions. Included in the roster are recognizable citizens such as Naperville's founder Joseph Naper and early pioneers Stephen Scott, Lewis Ellsworth and Nelson Murray.

The minutes of Naperville's lyceum can be compared to other lyceums of the era, which evolved in the mid-1800s, throughout the East and the Midwest. A journal of meetings as complete as Naperville's lyceum is very rare. The manuscript is also important in that it embodies the thoughts and actions of a large constituent group of Napervillians in the late 1830s and early 1840s, at the time the town was being formed.

Future plans include a transcription of the manuscript, which also will be digitized, so it can be searchable by word. The full title of the manuscript on the Illinois Digital Archives in The Naperville Heritage Collection is "Proceedings of the Naperville Lyceum."

Lincoln: Commander in Chief -- Jim Weren

In honor of the 200th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth, the Naperville Public Library is proud to present Lincoln: Commander in Chief, with artist and speaker Jim Weren. From the moment Lincoln took office, he had to manage both the military and political dimensions of the war. During his presidency, he faced endless crisis and constant criticism. In Jim's meticulous drawings of Lincoln, the viewer can plainly see the effects the Civil War had on the man. When he entered the White House, he was a prairie lawyer from Illinois, but in paintings of Lincoln just prior to his death in 1865, he had aged well beyond his years. Our program will feature Mr. Weren's portraits of Lincoln, accompanied by his well-researched and compelling narrative.

Online registration is required to attend this program. Register through the Library's website, www.naperville-lib.org, or at any of the service desks at the three Library buildings.
